RE: Annual Report 1993-1994; Parent Advocacy Program

DATE: July 18th, 1994.

Attached you will find the Narrative/Statistical Annual Report for the 1993-1994 Program year.

I-INTRODUCTION

I began working for ASPIRA Inc. of New Jersey on November 15th, 1993 as the Parent Advocate.

My primary responsibility was to work with the parents of the Luis Munoz Marin students that were participating in the Academic Continuance Program. This included having an active caseload of parents, coordinating and/or presenting workshops to parents and working as a liaison between the parents, school administrators, other school personnel and the students. Other duties were to be assigned to me as needed.

II- HIGHLIGHTS

The highlight of the program are the innovative efforts that are being directed at helping students by having a handle on home situations and needs that may hinder student development in school; this has come about through the work done with their parents.

The following highlights the programmatic services for the Parent Advocacy Program.

III. CASELOAD DATA

The academic program year of 1993-1994, ended with all 15 parents remaining on the active caseload for the upcoming academic year.

During the 1993-1994 academic year, a total of 15 (11 females 73.3% and 4 males 26.67%) parents were recruited.

In terms of ethnicity, 13 or 86.67% of the Essex County, caseload were Puerto Rican, Dominican 1 or 0.8%, Central American 1 or 0.8%.

Most of the participants were on public assistance. 4 were below 9420 income and 11 were between 9420-12629.
